

CALIFORNIA VOTE SHOWS LITTLE CHANGE SO FAR

Democratic Chairman Works All Day Bringing In Reports

Whether the Highest Vote for a Republican Elector is Greater Than the Lowest Vote for Democratic Electors About the Only Question of Interest to Politicians.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 14.—Whether the highest vote for a Republican elector in California was greater than the lowest vote for a Democratic elector was about the only question of interest to California politicians tonight. If this should prove to be the case, the state's delegation in the electoral college may be split. The Republicans admitted unearthing nothing in the course of the day to indicate for or against such a prospect.

Sidney M. VanWyck, Jr., chairman of the Democratic campaign committee, worked all day bringing in reports from little counties in the mountains where the county clerks had finished their count and also succeeded in getting one or two fair sized counties. His total for twenty counties showed the totals for the lowest Democratic elector in each county added 6,466 votes more than the totals for the highest Republican elector in the same counties. This count would show when completed, the Wilson elector vote at its lowest ebb Mr. VanWyck said. "That is to say if the lowest Democratic totals are finally ahead of the highest Republican totals, a solid delegation in the electoral college is assured. If the highest Republican totals exceed the lowest Democratic totals this will necessarily indicate that any Republican elector wins because the lowest Democrat and the highest Republican are not the same in all counties. Republicans and Democrats alike manifest surprise at rumors, said to be traceable in all cases to the east, that a considerable error had been found somewhere in the state in counting the votes.

"The mistake as reported would have to be in San Francisco, Alameda, or Los Angeles county," said Mr. VanWyck. "It is in none of them and, so far as we have been able to learn, it does not exist. The final count will show no material change." Reports from Republican headquarters were similar. "That is to say if the lowest Democratic totals are finally ahead of the highest Republican totals, a solid delegation in the electoral college is assured. CABRERA REPUDIATES BORDER PATROL PLAN

Makes Doubtful Ability of Americans To Assist Mexico

Those in Touch With Commission Indicate That Further Quibbling Will Not be Tolerated by American Commission.

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 14.—Repudiation by Luis Cabrera today of a plan of border control that had been agreed upon by two of his colleagues and the three American members again has made doubtful the ability of the Americans on the Mexican-American joint commission to assist Mexico in its efforts to restore normal conditions along the frontier.

The Americans were hopeful tonight that they might yet induce the Mexicans to agree to what they believe will be a satisfactory plan for the protection of life and property along the boundary, but it was indicated by those in touch with them that further opposition, characterized as quibbling would not long be tolerated.

There appeared reason tonight to believe that unless the chairman of the Mexican commission adopted a more tactful manner, he and his associates would be informed that further consideration of Mexico's social, economic and military problems must come to an end. The agreement that provided for the withdrawal of the American punitive expedition now in Chihuahua and for a method of dealing with border raiders in the future, was reached yesterday. Ignacio Bonillas and Alberto J. Paul of the Mexican commission concurring. Mr. Cabrera, chairman of the Mexican representation went to Philadelphia, where he conferred with Rafael Nieto, sub-secretary of the department of finance of which Mr. Cabrera is chief. It was when he reappeared in the commission room this morning that he announced his opposition to the details to the plan agreed upon.

The commission themselves have remained reticent regarding the unexpected opposition by Mr. Cabrera and all have declined to discuss for publication the details of the agreed upon plan. It is known, however, Mr. Cabrera's expression of his dissatisfaction was vehement. The commission's action is intended as an adjustment of the old inter-mountain rate dispute but unofficially it was said at the commission that as the increase contemplated amounted to ten and twenty five cents per hundred pounds and were subject to protests by shippers, the commission's action might prove temporary pending further hearings on the subject under the fourth section. The fourth section is that part of the interstate commerce law which governs the question of lower rates for long hauls than for hauls to the intermediate points.

The commission originally allowed the lower rates to the coast because of water competition. Then Spokane and other intermediate cities filed "long and short haul applications" asking relief in view of the elimination of Mississippi river boat competition and the closing of the Panama canal by slides. The commission last June revoked the original order and directed that the rates to intermediate points be reduced to Pacific Coast terminals be increased. The railroads adopted the latter course but the increased rates were suspended until December 30th, and by today's action are cancelled.

The session at which Mr. Cabrera entered his protest against the adopted plan was not finished until long after noon. The Americans had expected to hold the usual second session in the afternoon but Mr. Cabrera announced that it was necessary for him to return to Philadelphia. He was there tonight and there was no meeting this afternoon.

TRADE BODY MAY PROBE FOOD INCREASES

Commission Will Consider Subject at Meeting in Washington Friday.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Increases in the cost of food products are likely to be the subject of an investigation by the federal trade commission. Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the commission said here today the subject would be considered at a meeting of the commission in Washington Friday.

"The high cost of the necessities of life is the most important problem before the American people today," he said. "I believe it is within the province of the trade commission to investigate and I think it more than likely that we will hold meetings to determine the reason for the present high cost and apply a remedy, if a remedy can be found."

Mr. Hurley declared present coal prices were suicidal and charged coal operators with wastefulness. Of the 600,000,000 tons of bituminous coal mined in a year, he said, 300,000,000 was wasted and 200,000,000 of this could be saved under efficient operation.

TO PLACE BLOOD HOUNDS ON TRAIL OF JACKSON

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 14.—Three bloodhounds from kennels in Iowa are being rushed to Ely tonight, where they will be placed on the trail of Horace Jackson, Chicago board of trade man lost in the woods near Ely since last Friday afternoon. The dogs reached St. Paul this morning, the Northern Pacific train for Duluth being held there fifteen minutes so the animals could be hurried north.

The dogs will reach Ely tonight and will be placed on the trail of the lost broker-hunter without delay. It developed here today three friends that Mr. Jackson had a compass and is known to be versed in its use. It is believed, on account of the iron deposits in the Ely districts his compass may have become untrustworthy.

CANCEL FREIGHT RATE RISES

Interstate Commerce Commission Checks Rate Rise by Trans-Continental Railroads.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Cancellation of proposed general increases in freight rates by trans-continental railroads on traffic from and to the Pacific Coast and the inter-mountain country and the east was authorized today by the interstate commerce commission. Notice was given of a compromise between carriers and shippers for a maximum increase of ten cents per hundred pounds on carload shipments and 25 cents per hundred pounds on less than carload traffic to coast points.

The proposed increases amounted in some instances to several hundred percent and were suspended by the commission several months ago after extensive hearings here in which shippers vigorously protested. The great bulk of the traffic to points concerned is involved. The commission at the same time cancelled hearings set for November and December in Chicago, Salt Lake City, San Francisco and Portland and Spokane.

No changes to inter-mountain points from east territory, between the Atlantic coast and the Missouri river are contemplated and the commission stated that accordingly discriminations under the long-and-short-haul clause now existing between Pacific Coast ports and the inter-mountain cities will be diminished to the extent of the increases to the Pacific coast ports. The east-bound carload rates on asphaltum, barley, beans, canned goods, dried fruit and wine from the Pacific coast will be increased.

The "Schedule C" commodities constituted the heaviest west bound traffic, including iron and steel, hardware, canned goods, drygoods, paper and paints and oils. The increase proposed in the compromise include the heavy fruits and canned goods traffic from the coast.

The commission's action is intended as an adjustment of the old inter-mountain rate dispute but unofficially it was said at the commission that as the increase contemplated amounted to ten and twenty five cents per hundred pounds and were subject to protests by shippers, the commission's action might prove temporary pending further hearings on the subject under the fourth section.

The fourth section is that part of the interstate commerce law which governs the question of lower rates for long hauls than for hauls to the intermediate points.

SUBMIT WHITE SLAVE CASES TO SUPREME COURT

Question of Future Federal Prosecutions for Violation of Mann Act Awaits Court's Decision.

Washington, Nov. 14.—With the submission today to the supreme court of three so-called "white slave" cases the question of future federal prosecutions for violation of the Mann law, when elements of commercial vice or coercion are absent, now awaits the court's decision.

In arguing from conviction, under the Mann act, of F. Drew Caminetti, and Maury Dicks of Sacramento, Calif., and L. Hays of Alva, Okla., Assistant Attorney General Wallace for the government asked the court to interpret the law so as to prohibit interstate transportation of women for any immoral purposes, including non-commercial, personal, immoral escapades. The contention that congress never intended the law to apply to cases of mere immorality without the element of commercial traffic or coercion, was presented by former Senator Bailey of Texas and Harry O. Glassier of Enid, Okla., for the defendants.

Final decision of the highest court to set at rest variant rulings of federal courts was asked in today's arguments.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 14.—Following discussion of the annual report of Secretary John H. Farrell, appointment of committees and a preliminary conference by representatives of Class B leagues the delegates to the annual meeting of the National Association of Baseball Leagues late today cleared the way for consideration tomorrow of some of the more important questions scheduled for settlement during the sessions here.

The conference of representatives of Class B. Leagues resulted in the announcement that a formal request would be made for representation on the national commission of the minor leagues organization. Representatives of 16 minor leagues, comprising about 200 delegates were present at the opening session today.

Mrs. Katie Dryden of St. Charles, Mo., is in the city visit her cousin, Mrs. James H. Brown, of Anna street. The two had not previously met for more than twenty-five years and are greatly enjoying the reunion.

DENIES NEUTRAL RIGHTS HAVE BEEN CANCELLED

England Replies To U. S. Protest Against Trade Blacklist

Defines Blacklist As a Municipal Regulation Plainly Concerning Only the British Government and British Citizens.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The British reply to the latest American note protesting against the trade blacklist made public tonight by the state department denies that rights of neutral traders under international law have been ruthlessly cancelled, defines the blacklist measure as a municipal regulation plainly concerning only the British government and British citizens and contends that it is designed to shorten the war.

The note fails to meet the American demand that the names of American firms be stricken from the blacklist, but attempts to convince the state department that the British position is just and founded on law. It leaves open the door for further negotiation which is expected to follow. The note was subscribed by Viscount Grey the British foreign minister and was addressed and transmitted by Walter Hines Page, the American ambassador at London.

A part which attracted much official notice dealt with the subject of peace, based on the theory that one American contention had been that there exists no military necessity for the blacklists, that it is unnecessary for the Allies to prejudice neutral commerce and that nothing which happens in distant neutral countries can influence the result of the great conflict.

"If that really were the position," says the note, "it is possible that the measures taken by His Majesty's government might be described as uncalled for, but it is not. We may well wish that it were so. Even so the military situation of the Allies has greatly improved, there is still a long and bitter struggle in front of them and one which in justice to the principles for which they are fighting imposes upon them the duty of employing every opportunity and every measure which they can legitimately use to overcome their opponents."

"One observation which is very commonly heard is that certain belligerent acts, even the lawful, are too petty to have any influence in a struggle of such magnitude. It is, I know, difficult for those who have no immediate contact with war to realize with what painful anxiety men and women in this country must regard even the smallest acts which tend to increase if only by a hair's breadth, the danger in which their relatives and friends daily stand, or to prolong, if only by a minute the period during which they are to be exposed to such perils."

"Whatever inconveniences may be caused to neutral nations by the exercises of belligerent rights it is not to be compared for an instant to the suffering and loss occasioned to mankind by the prolongation of the war even for a week."

In its argument the note points out that German business houses thrust the world have furthered the cause of Germany in the war and have been active agents "for the dissemination of German political and social influence and for the purposes of espionage."

"In some cases," continues the note, "they have even been used as a basis of supply for German cruisers and in other cases organizers and paymasters of microboats employed to destroy by mail means factories engaged in making or ships engaged in carrying supplies required by the Allies. Such operations have been carried out in the territory even of the United States itself and I am bound to observe, what I do not think will be denied, that not adequate action has yet been taken by the government of the United States to suppress breaches of neutrality of this particularly criminal kind which I know that they are the first to discountenance and deplore."

"In the face of enemy activities of this nature it was essential for his majesty's government to take steps that should at least deprive interests so strongly hostile of facilities and advantages of unrestricted trading with British subjects. The public opinion of this country would not have tolerated the prolongation of war by the continued liberty of British subjects to trade with and so enrich the firms in foreign countries whose wealth and influence were alike at the services of the enemy."

The note is based largely on the argument that there is no assumption by Great Britain of power to interfere with neutral traders but that the blacklist is a matter of municipal law enjoining British subjects from trading with persons found to be assisting or rendering service to the enemy. It disclaims any intention of imposing disabilities or penalties on neutral trade.

STATE FEDERATION OF WOMAN'S CLUBS MEETS

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 14.—Demand for a constitutional convention for Illinois to extend full suffrage to the women of the state was among the leading topics of the State Federation of Woman's Clubs which met here today.

Political gossip buzzed today, although Mrs. George T. Palmer of Springfield, is the only avowed candidate for president. Chicago women concede the ability of downstate to name the president, but they have not elected just where they will throw their support.

Miss Jessie L. Spafford of Rockford, it is said, would be acceptable to the women from the state metropolis, although in some quarters it is urged that she is "too young."

War News Summarized

The British drive, begun early Monday morning amid fog and rain in the region of the Ancre river in France has netted them another village—Beaucourt, on the north bank of the Ancre. The capture of this village makes three that have fallen into British hands since the advance began, the other two being Beaumont Hamel and St. Pierre division. There is no indication that the offensive has ceased at any point along the five mile front.

On the drive the British thus far have taken more than 5,000 German prisoners, and, according to the latest report more captives are being brought in.

Aside from the gains in the Ancre region, the British also have made an advance to the east of the Butte de Wautcourt about three miles southeast of the important town of Hamourt.

To the south of the Somme the Germans are busily engaged in shelling French positions in the region of Pressoire and on the sector of Blaches-La-Maisonette with the French vigorously replying. On the remainder of the front only bombardments have occurred.

With comparative quiet still reigning on the Russian and Austro-Italian front, the Rumanian and Macedonian theaters continue the focal points of interest. The Austrians near Orsova and the junction of the Austrian-Rumanian and Serbian frontiers have cleared the right bank of the Danube of Rumanians, a victory which probably means a lessening of the impediments the Rumanians have placed upon the navigation of the river in this region.

Again the Rumanians in the Alt Valley of Transylvania have been pushed back by the Austro-German forces, who also have captured in the Jial Valley the village of Bumbesti and forced the Rumanians to wing near Drooselave to give way. Up in the north the Russians have been compelled to retire from the Gyergo mountains to the Rumanian frontier.

On the Monastir plain of Serbia and north of the Cerna river troops of the entente allies are attacking the German-Bulgarian lines. The battles have not reached a decision, according to Berlin.

Aside from artillery duels in the Trentina region and desultory artillery activity along the remainder of the line quite a number of the Austro-Italian theater. The artillery duel between the Russians and Austrian-Germans along the Narayuvka river in Galicia continues. Otherwise only unimportant engagements have taken place on the eastern front from the Baltic to the Carpathians.

BRYCE ADDRESSES MAYFLOWER CLUB

Asserts League of Peace Would Be The Straightening Out of Difficulties That Threaten to Embroider the World.

London, Nov. 14.—Viscount Bryce, former British ambassador to the United States was the principal speaker today at a meeting of the Mayflower club, composed of British and Americans and which has as its object the perpetuation of the memory of the pilgrims. The meeting was held in the reception room of the house of commons and among those present was the American ambassador, Walter Hines Page.

Speaking of the war and huge armaments in times of peace, Viscount Bryce said:

"The only method suggested for preventing these things is a combination of peace loving nations to be formed after the war, and after the object of settlement for the purpose of establishing a permanent peace."

"The simplest way of doing this is to require that every international dispute shall be submitted to arbitration or conciliation before any resort to arms. Such a plan could not be carried out without the co-operation of neutral nations and especially of the greatest of the neutral nations. The United States has hitherto stood apart in isolation. But isolation is no longer possible. Every country is now affected and its safety threatened by the spirit of anti-democratic aggression. The United States has avoided entangling alliances. But a league of peace would be no entangling alliance. It would be a smoothing down and straightening out of difficulties that threaten to embroil the world."

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE BY TAKING POISON

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 14.—Mrs. Myrtle Rafferty of this city attempted suicide here today by swallowing a number of bichloride of mercury tablets and is now in a serious condition. She gives as her reason for her act the fact that her husband, Joseph Rafferty of Peoria, refused to live with her. The couple have been separated since last spring. Mrs. Rafferty returned from Peoria last night and told her housekeeper that her husband had threatened to procure a divorce, and that she would rather die than live without him.

CLARK CONFERS WITH DEMOCRATIC LEADERS

Speaker Discusses Recent Congressional Election

Doremus Predicts Final Canvass Will Give Democrats Control of House and the Speaker Will Be Re-Elected.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Champ Clark, speaker of the house, reached Washington today and conferred with Democratic leaders regarding the congressional election, that, according to the latest unofficial returns, leaves control of the next house in doubt. The speaker conferred first with Representative Doremus of Michigan, chairman of the Democratic congressional committee who predicted despite unofficial returns indicating the election of five more Republicans than Democrats, that the final canvass would give the Democrats control and the speaker would be re-elected.

On the other hand, Representative Woods of Iowa, chairman of the Republican congressional committee was insisting complete returns would show Republican gains instead of losses and that Republicans would dictate the organization of the house.

Representative Doremus claimed early in the day at the white house that 212 Democrats and only 211 Republicans surely had been elected and there were nine doubtful districts. He reiterated this later to Speaker Clark, Senator Stone of Missouri and other Democratic leaders enumerating districts which he believed would show Democratic victories on the official count.

During the day however, there were no changes in the unofficial results now indicating the election of 217 Republicans, 212 Democrats, 20 Progressives, one Progressive protectionist, one Independent, one Socialist and one Prohibitionist.

Representative Doremus in his statement of doubtful districts at the informal conference of party leaders claimed that official returns would reverse the result and show the election of W. O. Martin, Democrat over W. P. Martin, Progressive-protectionist, in Louisiana; Zebulon Weaver, Democrat over James J. Britt, Republican in North Carolina; Thomas J. Scully, Democrat over Robert Carson, Republican in New Jersey; Samuel W. Beakes, Democrat over Mark R. Bacon, Republican in Michigan; T. J. Steele, Democrat over G. C. Scott, Republican in Iowa and M. Clyde Kelly, Progressive over William H. Coleman, Republican in Pennsylvania. In addition Mr. Doremus insisted that Clyde H. Tavenner, fourteenth Illinois; Harry B. Mitchell, Montana, at-large and Thomas G. Patten, eighteenth New York all apparently defeated by Republicans, had excellent chances to ultimate success.

Unofficial returns in disputed districts show the election of W. P. Martin of Louisiana by 91 votes; Britt, North Carolina by thirteen; Carson, New Jersey by 11; Bacon, Michigan by 100; Scott, Iowa by 73; Coleman, Pennsylvania by twenty; Francis, 18th New York by 2,656 and Graham, 14th Illinois by 1,529.

Republican leaders are claiming that final results will show the election of A. J. Barchfield, Republican over Guy E. Campbell, Democrat in the 32nd Pennsylvania district, and Robert P. Duer, Republican over Jesse D. Price, Democrat in the first district of Maryland. Announcement of a contest in the Maryland district was made today. In the 32nd Pennsylvania district on the official count today Campbell, Democrat had made a net gain of 14 votes in two Progressive wards.

The People Rule

The election held in Morgan county November 7 will go down in history as notable in many ways. One special fact was the very large number of voters who took part in the balloting. According to the official canvass 15,272 people expressed their views on the presidency or other questions. As there are just about 35,000 people in Morgan county it will thus be seen that nearly half of them took an active part in the election. Certainly the results here recorded the wishes of the people as never before in the history of the county.

New Business Comes in Dry States
Henry Ford, who doesn't know much about putting an end to the war in Europe, does have some practical ideas in business. His great success has given ample proof of this fact. Since thirty breweries are to be closed and 25,000 men thrown out of employment in Michigan next May because of the prohibition law adopted at the recent election, Mr. Ford has suggested that the brewers turn their attention to the manufacture of denatured alcohol. They have the organization, the buildings and the demand exists, so that Mr. Ford's suggestion has force.

The Michigan men who are looking for new lines of business activity can have comfort in the experience in other states where prohibition laws have been adopted. Sufficient time has been allowed between the passage of the law and its taking effect to permit other businesses to be developed, and the record of these other states is that the passage of the law has not meant confiscation of property, and instead, new lines of business have been developed.

The Crooks are Here

It is said that as a result of the war scores of internationally famous or notorious crooks, swindlers and confidence men are now operating in the United States because it is the only country where money is plentiful and the people prospering. But this condition doesn't worry the average citizen, for these swindlers are after big money and will get most of their harvest from those who are profiting from the big munitions orders and allied businesses, affected by the war.

Three men appeared in the district court in Davenport to plead guilty to the charge of having conspired to swindle a farmer out of $10,000. The men produced prima facie evidence of the fact that they have been financially successful in their operations because they had seventeen lawyers represent them, even in the proceeding wherein the plea of guilty was entered.

Control of Congress

The fight for the control of the next house of congress is already under way and the balance of power seems to be with the Progressive. Prohibition and independent members. If Republicans can gain control of the house in the minds of many much of the election regret will be lessened. Thinking Republicans, had in mind in this election not the mere matter of choosing the president but putting in force Republican policies and ideas. The chief fear that many Republicans have had is what may happen to the country commercially when the big volume of business created by the war ceases. This can be discussed now without the charge that it is being done for political reasons.

Either as a matter of policy or because they have seen the good reasoning, President Wilson and some Democratic leaders have shown indications of willingness to adopt in part Republican ideas of protection. If the administration will concede something further in this line in the way of commercial preparedness, the Republican party need not feel the loss of the election near so keenly.

If Republicans can control the house the administration leaders will be furnished an excuse for compromise protective measures and if they are not willing to take advantage of this possibility, Republican party leaders in control may be able to force something on their own account. The most important question before this country today is not military preparedness but commercial preparedness, and with Republicans in control of the house and administrative leaders showing some willingness to admit that conditions justify at least a partial adherence to protective policies, conditions are quite hopeful.

Making Good the Deficit

The Democratic national committee has a deficit of $200,000 and it is proposed to raise this fund by popular subscription. This should not be a very difficult matter just at present—at least while so many appointments are in prospect. All the present office holders and the thousands who are expecting to "land" will certainly be willing to contribute toward the deficit and hope to reap their reward later on. For a defeated party committee to raise a deficit fund by popular subscription would be an entirely different matter.

Adamson Law Did Not Settle Wage Dispute

The passage of the Adamson law, hailed as an achievement of the Wilson administration on the one hand and attacked on the other as an unwarranted action of the president, has not settled the wage dispute. The railroad brotherhood leaders now threaten to enforce their strike orders if the railroad presidents do not withdraw their objections to the law and proceed to operate under it. The railroads are still insisting that the law merely increases wages instead of fixing hours. Its constitutionality is attacked in suits which have been brought in several states.

It is unbelievable that the brotherhoods, in their ardor to reap at once the victory which came to them when the president yielded to their demands, would issue a strike order and thus express their unwillingness to wait for the action of the supreme court. Having secured the passage of the law the brotherhoods should certainly be content to let the government attend to the enforcement of the law.

A strike action could only be construed as an endeavor on the part of the brotherhoods to assume the functions of government and a great majority of the American people would protest against any such high handed action. Any man or organization who is unwilling to submit the constitutionality of a law to the supreme court of the United States is not in accord with American ideas of justice and government.

Rippling Rhymes By WALT MASON

EUROPE'S WAR

It seems as though the dreary war will never have an ending; the peace the world is longing for, no white-winged dove is sending. A year ago we hoped and prayed that ere another summer the soldier would have sheathed his blade and gone to work as plumber. We saw the winter months advance, and as the spring drew closer, we hoped that he would soak his lance, and open up as grocer. And when the vernal freshets roared, we watched the man in armor and hoped that he would can his sword, and get a job as farmer. Alas our hopes were all in vain; the world is mad and dizzy, and Europe, counting up her slain, is still supremely busy. It seems to me if kings and emperors would hold a friendly meeting, and pass around some good cigars, first one then t'other treating, they soon might end the beastly scrap that's kept the world affrighted, and fix the blamed ding-swizzled map so all would be delighted. But horse sense is a sacred thing, a cure for war and dangers, to which the captain and the king have evermore been strangers.

WILSON PLACES BLAME ON THE MIDDLE MAN

President Ascribes Present High Cost of Foodstuffs to Middlemen—Addresses National Grange.

Washington, Nov. 14.—President Wilson blamed middlemen for the high cost of foodstuffs here tonight in a speech welcoming to Washington the convention of the National Grange, the first formal speech he has delivered since the election. Urging the farmers increase their output the president said:

"We ought to raise such big crops that circumstances like the present can never recur when men can make as if the supply was so short that the middleman could charge for it what he pleased. It will not do to be niggardly with the rest of the world in respect to its food supply."

The president did not mention recent petitions to him to declare an embargo on exportation of foodstuffs from the United States to the rest of the world and he did not refer even indirectly to the outcome of the presidential election. His address was interrupted frequently by applause from the farmers attending the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the founding of the grange.

Big Problems Lie in Future.

"It seems to me," said the president, "that some of the most interesting problems of our life and of the life of the world lie before us, problems in connection with which the farmers of the United States will play a part such as they have never played before."

"It goes without saying that the physical life of the nation has always depended upon the farm. It goes without saying also, that to a large extent the physical life of the world has drawn its sustenance from the great areas of farm land in the United States. We have sent food to all parts of the world, and the American farmer has contributed to the life of all the countries of the world. But you know that as our own population has increased the proportion in which we could hold foreign countries as contrasted with our own has decreased, and there are problems that are comparable with the problems of statesmanship lying ahead of the farmers of the United States."

"In the future we have got to bring more of the area of the United States under cultivation than is under cultivation now. We have got to increase the product at every point where it is susceptible of being increased."

"One of the things that has most interested me about what has been done recently by legislation for the benefit of the farmer is the question why it was not done long before. It is astonishing that the assets, the valuable, available assets, the visible assets of the farm, should not have been available as a basis of credit on the same terms as the assets of commercial undertaking and manufacturing industry. Cattle are just as visible and tangible as goods in warehouses and goods on trains."

"We have liberated the credits of the banks, and we have mobilized thru the department of agriculture the scientific intelligence of the world. With that combination, every nation in the world ought to come to us to learn how to raise big crops. We ought to raise such big crops that circumstances like the present can never recur, when men can make as if the supply was so short that the middleman could charge for it what he pleased. It will not do to be niggardly with the world in respect of its food supply."

"I wish that all problems of government were displayed in as clear lines of duty as this problem of government with regard to how the farmer ought to be treated is displayed. I wish for example that foreign affairs were as simple as agriculture."

"The great satisfaction about what you have to discuss is that when once your duty is determined, we have got a great force of intelligence to go forward with the line of duty."

"The thing that makes a free country vital is the large number of people who get together to do important things without asking the leave of the government to do them. The striking thing about a great country like the United States is that if the government neglected anything, the people would do it; that you do not beckon to the people of the United States, they command you to go on, and things that are neglected they get plenty of brains to get together and do for themselves."

A CHILD HATES OIL, CALOMEL, PILLS FOR LIVER AND BOWELS

Give "California Syrup of Figs" If Cross, Sick, Feverish, Constipated

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicate "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless, "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

PLANNING FOR FALL FESTIVAL FOR NEXT YEAR

Chamber of Commerce Directors Suggest Boosters Organize Now for Big Show Next Year—Dairy Interest Meetings in December—New Directors Proposed.

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce held a regular monthly meeting Tuesday night with John J. Reeve, president, presiding. Several matters of interest were brought to the attention of the directors by H. Jay Rodgers, secretary. LeRoy Potter, manager of the Jacksonville creamery, and Frank J. Heintz, chairman of the department of rural affairs of the Chamber of Commerce, gave some details about the series of dairy meetings which will be held here the first week in December. The plans are the result of arrangements made with the Illinois dairy-men's association and experts will be sent here for this series of meetings. First a number of meetings will be held at various points in the county and the final one of the week in Jacksonville. There has been a decided increase in dairying in Morgan county within the past few years as a result of the higher prices for land and because of the location of two creameries here. Farmers are finding it very desirable to keep a few cows as a steady source of income and for the further purpose of increasing the value of their land.

Telephone Decision Cited.
M. R. Fitch of the promotion department reported several matters that are under consideration by the committee. For the public affairs committee Dr. Howe referred to the LaCrosse, Wis., telephone case which was brought before the utility commission in that state. The order was made applicable to the LaCrosse companies which obligate the two companies to give interchangeable service. The copy of this finding was referred to the committee which has in hand the matter of securing co-operative service between the two telephone companies doing business in Jacksonville.

M. V. Bassett, representing the Boosters' club, was present and made a report on the festival recently held here with such success. It developed that the club has some treasury deficit as a result of the festival and the co-operation of the directors was desired in wiping out this amount. It is the intention to have this all cleared up this year and not carried over as a burden for next year. All directors present joined in complimenting the Boosters' club on the success of the festival which seemed to have the general approval of all merchants.

Favor 1917 Festival.
Referring to plans for next year, Frank J. Heintz spoke especially of the possibility of organizing a Jacksonville fair association and securing aid from the state board of agriculture. It seems that a fair association which gives prizes to a certain amount for home farm products can receive appropriations from the state board, and agreements must be made that no games of chance will be allowed on the ground or no liquors be sold.

By unanimous vote the matter was referred to the Boosters' club with approval and the suggestion was made to be made to organize for next year with the idea of specially developing the farm exhibits department. W. H. Anderson representing the Jacksonville Driving club, told of a deficit of $900 which the club has and asked the co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce in raising this amount. He told of the number of people that driving club events bring to the city and the good advertising that results when successful race horses are sent to other cities. As Mr. Anderson did not have all the details as to what caused the deficit it was suggested that officers of the association might appear at some later meeting of the directors and explain just what sort of aid is needed.

New Directory Proposed.
C. O. Sampson, who published an excellent directory in Jacksonville two years ago, appeared before the directors to ask their approval in issuing another directory. It was the sense of those present that no objection should be offered to the issuance of such a book if merchants of sufficient number desire to subscribe and to take advertising. Mr. Sampson said that it was the history of the average city that there are at least twenty per cent changes of residence every year and in some cities the figures go even higher. The plan now followed in Springfield, Danville, Decatur and some of the larger cities is to have a directory every year. Mr. Sampson and his associates understand this business very thoroughly and devote their entire attention to it.

Some other matters were discussed in an informal way before the adjournment hour came.

FAMOUS BARITONE TO BE HEARD TONIGHT

Reinhold Werrenrath Will Present Splendid Program at the Grand—Sang With Geraldine Farrar.

A large audience will no doubt greet Reinhold Werrenrath, famous baritone who comes to the Grand Opera House tonight for a concert program. The people of Jacksonville are given this great musical opportunity thru arrangement made by Robert Boyd. After discussing the project with a number of local music lovers, Mr. Boyd decided to arrange for the coming of Werrenrath on his own account. Upon the interest shown in this concert will depend whether others of like merit can be booked.

Reinhold Werrenrath sang during one engagement of thirty-six weeks with Geraldine Farrar and has been on concert programs with other musicians of equal note. The program to be presented tonight will be one of exceptional musical excellence but at the same time of a kind that can be appreciated both by those musically educated and those who simply enjoy music.

The fact that several special propositions were voted on in addition to the regular party tickets made the canvassing work extensive this year.

VOLLEY BALL PLAY AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Volley ball is one of the most popular games at the Y. these days. Last night a team from the business and professional mens class lined up against a picked team from the senior class and some good games were played. The business men romped away with the first game 21 to 10. The second game the seniors put a better fight but the game went 21 to 14 for the business men. The third game the seniors got together and it looked for awhile like they were going to win, but the business men nosed them out 21 to 17. Line-up of the teams: Business Men—E. Hopper, I. B. Potter, L. Cooney, Dr. A. C. Wood and H. A. Brewer. Senior Team—W. Hemmrough, Harold Swain, Horace Swain, Harold Swain, M. Peckham, E. Tomlinson, R. Foster and H. Dunlap.

Thursday night of this week a team of business and professional men from the Y. M. C. A. at Quincy will come to Jacksonville for a series of games with the local men. Sport lovers will be given a real treat in volleyball as the Quincy men come with a reputation of being artists at the game. The Jacksonville team played the Quincy team last year at the Hannibal tournament and beat them easily but they are planning on bringing some of their strongest players here Thursday hoping to get even for the trouncing they received at Hannibal. The game will be called promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

CHINESE CURIOS AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Missionaries Made Addresses and Gave Exhibit Which Interested A Large Audience.

A rich treat was enjoyed by a large number of persons who gathered at the Congregational church last evening to hear Mr. and Mrs. Christian tell more of the far away land of China in which they are devoting their valuable lives for the welfare of the ones who sit in darkness. They appeared in Chinese costumes and displayed a large number of articles in every day use in China, shoes which had been worn by women, hair ornaments, pipes, wooden pillow, miniature mandarin's grave and many other articles.

Mr. Christian explained the use of these and held up to view others for guesses as to uses and the result was quite amusing. A rich robe such as worn by the Manchus was displayed and greatly admired as well it might be as it was a rare piece of work. Mrs. Christian recited the 23rd Psalm in the Chinese language and her sweet voice made the remarkable tongue of that people sound quite musical. A number of articles they had for sale the proceeds to go to establishing a playground in connection with the kindergarten work in which Mrs. Christian is engaged, a goodly sum was realized.

This evening Mr. Christian will speak instead of the prayer meeting and his address will be a different phase of the work and the nation and its condition.

WOMEN IN FAVOR OF MILITARY PREPAREDNESS

Interesting Paper Presented at Meeting of East Side Tuesday Club, Followed by Discussion in Which Drill in Schools is Warmly Advocated.

"Does the United States Want, or Need Military Preparedness?" was the theme of a paper, presented by Mrs. David Kennedy at the regular meeting of the East Side Tuesday club, entertained Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. A. C. Metcalf at Illinois Woman's college. The meeting was well attended and the discussion which followed the paper showed that the members were almost a unit in demanding for this country a rational scheme of military preparation.

A feature of the meeting was a reading, from a work of O. Henry, by Miss Frances George, a student of the college. After the program the hostess served refreshments.

Athletes, it was contended, often do not serve the purpose for which intended. The boys who excel in athletic sports are those who derive the principal benefit. A system of military training for public school pupils would give all the advantage of physical development. Military drill would also serve to lessen the demand for dancing and other forms of social diversion. The idea was advanced that systematic military drill would go a long way toward preparedness. That young man when called to serve their country would be far from untrained and that they would respond quickly to the training of the army post.

Many people in this country, it was said, fear to face the duty of national strength. Greece and Rome were mentioned, and the fact that the hour which saw a general shirking of military duty ushered in an era of decline and decay.

JACKSONVILLE AUTO IN COLLISION IN DECATUR

A Jacksonville automobile, which went to Decatur to witness the Illinois-Southern football contest, happened to an accident Sunday afternoon which came near to being serious. Says a Decatur paper:

Those in the Jacksonville car were the Misses Dorothy and Frances Leek, Harry Anderson and a chauffeur. They were going east on King street and Knapp was going south on Water street. The latter threw out his arm to turn west, saw the other car approaching and put on a little extra speed to get his car out of the way. The Knapp machine went across King street and part way up on the parking on the south side, the front end of the Jacksonville car hitting it in the rear.

The fenders and running board of the Knapp car was bent down and the fenders of the Jacksonville car were slightly damaged. Drivers of each machine appeared in police headquarters and Mr. Anderson made arrangements to pay whatever repair bill was required to put the Knapp car in running condition. Mr. Anderson and the others of his party were visiting in the home of W. L. Reid, 1276 North Church street. Their car was repaired so that they could return home Sunday evening.

Mr. Knapp's daughter suffered bruises on her arm, but a physician said there were no broken bones.

BIRTH RECORD. Born, Monday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Cooper of Concord, a son.

EIGHTY-THIRD BIRTHDAY IS CELEBRATED

Relatives of Edmund Blackburn Gathered at Family Home Tuesday to Pay Him Honor.

The eighty third birthday of Edmund Blackburn was observed at his home six miles northwest of Jacksonville Tuesday. Children of Mr. Blackburn planned a surprise in his honor and immediate members of the family and near relatives appeared at the old home about noon bringing ample supplies with them for a big dinner. Altho Mr. Blackburn had no inkling of the plans, he was not greatly surprised for each passing year members of the family have planned some special recognition of his birthday, which each year becomes a more important anniversary as he passes milestone after milestone and still retains his vitality. Tho he has reached such advanced years, Mr. Blackburn is much stronger in both mind and body than are many men and women who began the journey of life a score of years later than he did.

After the serving of the dinner yesterday several hours were spent in an enjoyable social way. A great deal of interest was found in the many letters which Mr. Blackburn received from long time friends congratulating him on the anniversary and hoping for a continuance of his health and strength. One writer expressed the hope that Mr. Blackburn's wonderful life might be spared for many years further, that he might thus continue to exert the benign influence that has radiated from his life for so long a period. The wish thus voiced expressed the hope of all in the company which gathered yesterday and was the dominant tone in the various letters of congratulation.

All of those present yesterday were relatives other than Rev. J. W. Kirkpatrick, pastor of Ebenezer church and Mrs. Kirkpatrick. Others in the company were Mrs. Sinclair Campbell, Tuscola; Frank Masters, Miss Jessie Masters, Mrs. Ethel Masters, Fred Masters, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Dinwiddie, Edmund Dinwiddie, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edgar Martin and son; Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Blackburn, son and daughter; Mrs. Julia Wajers, Gunn, Montana; Mr. and Mrs. James Reid, Miss Idella Walton, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Walters, Miss Marian Walters, Miss Lucella Blackburn, Miss Kate Blackburn, Miss Estella Blackburn, Miss Ella Blackburn.

Additional interest was given the occasion by the discussion of early Illinois days in Methodism resulting from some reminiscences given by both Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick. Both the minister and his wife have been identified with Methodism since the days of childhood, and as this was also true of Mr. Blackburn there were many stories of earlier days of great interest. Naturally the sayings and doings of Rev. Peter Cartwright, Rev. Peter Akers and other prominent figures in early Methodism of the state furnished the groundwork for most of the incidents retold.

BROWNING PROPERTY CASE ON TRIAL

Circuit Court Will Be Busy For Days Hearing Evidence—House Moving Injunction Order Sustained—Final Order to be Entered Today.

The partition suit of Mrs. Sallie Browning Orea against the Farmers State Bank & Trust Co. on exceptions to the master's report is now on trial in the circuit court before Judge James A. Creighton. The attorneys are now engaged in reading the evidence taken before the master at the original hearing. As there are 700 or 800 typewritten pages of this testimony it will take a number of days for the mere reading. Afterward evidence will be taken from witnesses and arguments will be made by the attorneys. The case, therefore, will occupy the remainder of this week at least. Mrs. Orea is represented by Bellatti, Bellatti & Moriarty and the Farmers State Bank & Trust Co. by W. T. Wilson and Worthington, Reeve & Green.

The taking of evidence and the presentation of arguments in the injunction proceedings of the Jacksonville Railway & Light Co. against James Ball occupied all of the morning session of the court. Judge Creighton then made the temporary injunction permanent and gave an opportunity to the attorneys for Mr. Ball to file a cross bill today. The company was therefore sustained in the position that Mr. Ball was acting unlawfully in making threats to move the house across the tracks without permission. As to the right of the company to make changes for granting permission to cross the tracks, the court withheld opinion until the attorneys for Mr. Ball have had opportunity to file cross bill.

Among orders entered were the following:

Henry Roegge et al. vs. Clara B. Wilday. Foreclosure. Report of receiver approved.

Samuel F. M. Hicks vs. John M. Dodd et al. Foreclosure. Cause referred to the master.

Edie Matthews vs. R. R. Matthews. Divorce. The court hearing the evidence granted a decree on the ground of drunkenness and Mrs. Matthews was permitted to take her maiden name of Edie Masters.

A. C. Moffett vs. Mary E. Cook. et al. Foreclosure. All defendants called and made default. The case referred to master.

People of State vs. John Frank et al. Bill. Demurrer to bill filed. Henry J. Rodgers vs. Edith M. Fox et al. In aid of execution. Leave to answer by the 20th.

John W. Marshall et al. vs. Thomas Marshall et al. Partition. Cause referred to master.

Maggie Hays vs. Henry Suter. Bill. Leave to answer by Nov. 25.

The school of which he told is really a wonder and reflects greatest credit on the noble woman who is conducting it.

ENTERS PROTEST FOR POST OFFICE CLERKS

Letter to President Wilson Protests Against Clerks Working More than Eight Hours a Day.

New York, Nov. 14.—In a letter to President Wilson, made public today by Thomas E. Flaherty, secretary and treasurer of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks, entered a protest against working postoffice clerks more than 8 hours a day. The letter says that a law passed by Congress provided that clerks shall not be required to work more than 8 hours a day within ten days and for working in excess of this are to be paid overtime in proportion to their salaries.

"This law contemplated that only in emergencies should more than 8 hours be required," Mr. Flaherty said in his letter. "Yet, in many of the large postoffices, notably New York, Chicago, Boston and Cleveland, the clerks are forced daily and nightly to work ten, eleven and even twelve hours."

FRANCE PLANS FOR AFTER WAR EXPORTS

Nation Expects to Regain Iron Fields of Alsace and Lorraine—May Begin Building of Ships Now for Merchant Marine Service.

Paris, Nov. 14.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—"Lack of outgoing freight was what ailed the French government before the war," says Maurice Ajam, deputy for the department of the Sarthe and former Under Secretary for the merchant marine. "Outgoing freight—heavy freight—is the only permanent cure for that ailment; the remedy will be furnished by the issue of the war."

"Five million tons of steel and iron from the valley of the Moselle," he declares to The Associated Press, "will be added to our exportations, since the least that France will get out of the war will be her old province of Alsace and Lorraine with the iron deposits that Germany took from us in 1871."

"The Frenchman is a stay-at-home," says Mr. Ajam, "and we can't give to our lines the revenue German ships derive from the emigrant trade. We can and will give them products and manufactures in place of it. At least we can give them a larger production of our own current carrying trade that went to foreign ships before the war."

Reasons for Greater Marine.

The significance of Mr. Ajam's reference appears from figures showing that France paid 1,085,000,000 francs to foreign ships and 345,000,000 to French lines in 1915. The balance of seven hundred and forty million francs has had more weight in the argument for a greater merchant marine than years of propaganda. Both the government and parliament propose immediate action but they are not yet agreed as to what action.

Statistics collected by the Moniteur de La Flotte, the leading French maritime journal, show that the part of the French marine in the exterior commerce of France had fallen to 30 per cent in 1895 and to 24 per cent in 1913. In the meantime the general freight traffic of the country had gone from fifteen tons in 1880 to 45 million tons in 1913.

French lines carried more and more freight, but considered in comparison to the development of French foreign trade, its proportionate share became less and less. The unusual circumstances developed from the war changed the situation and increased the part of French bottoms to 31 per cent in 1915, but the Moniteur de La Flotte estimates that, as a result of remarkable increases in imports during this year, the share of French ships will have dropped again to about 25 per cent; in other words, foreign ships are bringing to France three-quarters of all the products and manufactures that it imports. France will have expended for the year 1916, at the present rate, three billion francs for ocean transportation, of which two and a half billions will go to foreign bottoms, reducing the share of French lines to 20 per cent.

Plan to Begin Building Now.

M. Ajam promises, in a bill just introduced in the chamber of deputies, the construction of merchant ships to the aggregate of 500,000 tons burden. He demands that in view of the magnitude of the task of restoring and developing the merchant fleet, the first initiative be confined to the government and that the ships be put on the stocks at once, to be sold subsequently to steamship lines on the most favorable terms possible.

The merchant marine committee of the chamber proposes loans aggregating 150 million francs, at six per cent interest, to shipping companies acceptable to the minister of marine for the purpose of buying or constructing steamships; of this sum fifty million francs would be reserved to colonial service and fifty millions to French shipbuilders.

The best information obtainable indicates that between fifty thousand and sixty thousand tons of merchant ships have been built since the war began, although most of the shipyards are employed manufacturing war material. Merchant vessels bought abroad to fly the French flag at the end of hostilities aggregate 150 thousand tons, while from the German fleet seized in Portuguese ports vessels aggregating 60,000 tons have been attributed to France, making a total of 260,000 tons to be added to the fleet as it existed before the war. From this should be deducted losses through the work of submarines to the aggregate of 147,000 tons, leaving a net gain, according to semi-official figures of 113,000 tons.

M. Ajam contests the accuracy of these figures and is of the opinion that, if there will have been any net increase in the tonnage of French merchant ships at the end of the war, it will not reach 50,000 tons.

Mrs. Hafferbecker complained that her husband beat and mistreated her and when the judge asked her how he mistreated her, she suddenly left her seat and seized him by the hair giving it a lusty yank.

After the judge had freed himself, he gave Mrs. Hafferbecker thirty days in the workhouse and then ordered a railing built between the witness stand and the bench.

PLAN SYSTEM OF EXCHANGE LETTERS

Suggestion is Made for Exchange of Letters Between American and Foreign School Children.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Establishment of a system of exchange letters between American and foreign school children, earnestly supported by Ambassador Naon of Argentina and other diplomats, was suggested today by the American Peace Society here in a letter to its school division.

Already such a plan is under trial by the New Hampshire division of the society and its successful working out will be followed by its institution on a broad scale all over the country. The results so far are said to be most satisfactory.

Under the plan, high school pupils would be encouraged as part of their course to prepare a regular letter at intervals to another high school pupil in some South American or European country. The letters would be all coordinated, where essential, translated, and then delivered through the schools of the foreign country. Correspondence would be between individuals.

The plan is believed to have very great possibilities in furthering international understanding and good will, as well as increasing the pupils' knowledge of language and breadth of outlook.

If the plans work out as expected, the society will extend it just as far as possible. Co-operation of American teachers and foreign diplomats will be sought with possibly the creation of a central distributing and overseeing bureau.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Chicago working girls have begun their education for grand opera. A course of instruction for the girls of twenty six trades—milliners, boot and shoe workers, glove makers, and all the other unions—is to be given in preparation for their attendance during the grand opera season, which opens here tonight.

Professor Bertram C. Nelson of the University of Chicago started the instruction at a meeting of the Women's Trade Union League by giving a reading from Lohengrin.

SHARP PRICE LOSSES RESULT IN WHEAT

Market Closes Heavy at 1/2 to 3/4 Cents Net Decline—Other Staples Show Setback.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Sharp price losses in wheat resulted today from indications that British buyers had withdrawn from the market. The close was heavy at 1/2 to 3/4 cent decline with December $1.85 1/2 to $1.86 and May at $1.90 1/2 to $1.91.

Other staples, too, showed a setback—corn 1/2 to 3/4 cent, oats 1/2 to 3/4 cent and provisions 1/2 to 3/4 cent.

According to the best available information export sales of wheat for the day were almost entirely to neutral countries. The British were understood to have a large amount of wheat bought for November and December shipment, and that so far in a position to await favorable terms of purchase for additional supplies.

Railway traffic difficulties counted also against the bulls late in the session.

Corn weakened in the face of clear cold weather likely to bring about enlarged receipts. There were reports also that livestock was being forced to sale unduly by the high prices of corn and that the winter demand for feeding would therefore be much diminished.

Oats gave way with corn. Declines were recorded to some extent as a result of falling off in receipts at country stations.

Mr. Harry Spier at the Piano

New Orleans Times-Picayune, Jan. 20, 1916:

Mr. Werrenrath is so well known in New Orleans, having sung here on two other occasions, that no one was surprised at the triumph that greeted him. This time, however, he gave one more important number than ever before, the magnificent and extremely difficult "vision Fugitive" from "Herodiade" and his splendid rendition made one long for the complete opera with the young baritone in the leading role. His voice is big, resonant and high, and his musicianship is beyond question.

Cleveland Plain Dealer, Oct. 21, 1916:

Mr. Werrenrath whose vibrant and musical baritone has on other occasions won high favor in Cleveland, sang in impressive style the "Pagliacci" and songs in English and German.
